VETS Canada

RCAA

Veterans Emergency Transition Services was formed in Halifax several years ago to help veterans having difficulty in returning to civilian life. VETS organizations are starting to spread across Canada but they need volunteers to go out on the streets to find and then assist those Canadian veterans who need help. If you have the time to help a fellow veteran then log on to VETSCanada.org.

Canadian CF-18s still coming home

NATO wants to see Canada play a role in its reconstituted military mission to train Iragi security forces — an idea the alliance's secretary general pitched directly to Foreign Affairs Minister Stephane Dion, The Canadian Press has learned. Jens Stoltenberg's approach, made on the sidelines of a foreign minister's meeting in Brussels, could be helpful to the Liberal government, which began its first question period fending off accusations that it is cutting and running from the war against the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant, also known as ISIL or ISIS. ## Liberal government moves to hire new staff at Veterans Affairs

Ottawa Citizen

Public service job competitions have begun as the Liberal government starts to follow through on its promise to rehire Veterans Affairs front-line staff cut by Tories. Two job postings are now up, with union president Carl Gannon Jr. pointing out the process is the first sign under the new government that it is going to reverse Conservative staff cuts. Veterans Affairs Minister Kent Hehr has also said the nine Veterans Affairs offices closed by the Conservatives will be reopened. READ MORE

Wreaths placed on veterans graves as visible sign of support

CTV News

There was a visible sign of support at the National Military Cemetery recently. Thousands of wreaths were laid on the headstones of veterans as part of Wreaths Across Canada. The annual event was started five years ago by Craig McPhee, a veteran of the Canadian Armed Forces. It is based on the Wreaths Across America that started in 1992 at Arlington Cemetery. READ MORE

Manitoba program to match retiring soldiers with careers in agriculture 🕈 🔰 🛅 🔤

A new program from a Winnipeg-based organization will match retired military soldiers with jobs in the country's agriculture sector. Operation Ag Careers, organized in part by the Canadian Association of Agri-Retailers (CAAR), aims to career-match soldiers retiring from service and entering civilian life with new careers in the agriculture sector — both on and off the farm. # RCAA joins hands across the seas

The Royal Canadian Artillery Association now has affiliation agreements with the Royal Artillery Association (RAA), the Royal Australian Artillery Association (RAAA) and the Royal New Zealand Artillery Association (RNZAA). The purpose of these affiliations is the exchange of information and ideas of interest to gunners. We will be exchanging our websites and e-news letters to stay up to date. So if you are planning a trip to one of our Commonwealth allies and would like to make contact with local gunners this will provide you with a link. I know that the kiwi contacts both spent time in Canada and would be interested in renewing contact. Stay tuned for more

AAA RCAA Affiliation

The Australian Artillery Association is both honoured and delighted that you have invited us to affiliate with the Royal Canadian Artillery Association (RCAA), an invitation that we humbly accept. To this end we have placed a link to your website on our Links webpage and will notify all our members in the next edition of our eNewsletter. READ MORE

Colonel Commandment Commendation

Lieutenant-Colonel (Retired) I.A. Kennedy is hereby commended for his outstanding contribution to the well-being of The Royal Regiment of Canadian Artillery and the celebration of its history and heritage. A onetime Bombardier and Lance Sergeant of the RCA, Lieutenant-Colonel Kennedy went on to provide similarly distinguished service as an officer of The Black Watch Royal Highland Regiment of Canada, The Royal Canadian Regiment, the Canadian Airborne Regiment and The Princess of Wales' Own Regiment (which he commanded).
